CHILD WILL SEE AFTER OPERATION

Little Child of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kane Recovering Nicely from Grafting of Pig's Cornea. Most Remarkable Operation.

Six months old David Kane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kane, of Carlisle street, will see as well as all other children according to the predictions of surgeons in Baltimore where the cornea of a pig's eye was grafted to the eye of the child in an effort to cure the baby of the total blindness in which it was born.

An examination made Sunday afternoon gave every indication of a successful issue to the remarkable operation which was performed last Monday by Dr. Floyd B. Whitman, one of the youngest practicing surgeons in Baltimore, who is now a visiting physician at the Baltimore Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital.

It is practically impossible to make a satisfactory test of an infant's eye. A candle was lighted in the dark room Sunday afternoon, however, and carried around. The child seemed to follow it with the eye on which the pig's cornea was grafted. Mrs. Agnes Kane, mother of the infant, says that she has seen her son, when the bandage was removed from the optic, following the movement of his little hands. In addition, the eye is perfectly clear, which is the only physical evidence that can be had that the child can now see.

It was the confident belief of the surgeons at the hospital Sunday afternoon that the operation has been a complete success. Dr. Whitman was asked for his opinion, but he was loath to speak of the operation for publication. He did say, however, that all appearances so far tend to the belief that the operation has been successful, but, he added, there is a probability that the cornea may become clouded at any time within a month.

Dr. Whitman is a modest young man. In fact, it is due to this modesty that his name has never appeared in connection with the published reports of the operation prior to today.

Repeated attempts to interview him have failed, and it is believed that he will maintain silence until after every doubt of the success of the operation has been cleared away. The only definite information, in fact, which can be learned about the progress of the child is that which is obtained from Dr. Whitman's friends.

Although it is the first of its kind to be successful, the operation performed by Dr. Whitman was under peculiar difficulties and in a peculiarly difficult manner.

The outer layer of the cornea of the child's eye was not affected by the disease from which it was suffering. It was the inner layers that had become clouded, producing blindness. It was Dr. Whitman's aim to preserve this outer layer and substitute the cornea of the pig for the inner layers. Therefore, it was necessary to undermine the outer layer without disturbing the delicate tissue, or cause it to be clouded, and insert the pig's cornea. This is what Dr. Whitman accomplished.

New Methodist Minister well Liked in Clearfield.

The Clearfield "Daily Public Spirit" says: "Rev. R. S. Oyler, who has been pastor of the Eleventh street Methodist church for the past two years, has been appointed to the pastorate of the Gettysburg Methodist church. Mr. Oyler has done fine work during the two years he was among us. He is an able preacher and a good pastor and has greatly endeared himself to the hearts of his people. He leaves here with the best wishes of everybody. We express it as our earnest wish that he may have a long and successful ministry and that he will continue to be a blessing to mankind in the future as he has been in the past."

MOUNT HOLLY MAN SUICIDES

Defendant in Case Growing out of Fighting Puts Bullet in his Brain, Killing himself Instantly. Despondent over Case.

In a fit of despondency, Charles Albert Hartz, 52 years old, residing in Upper Holly on Saturday morning walked into the mountains near the home of his sister, and shot a bullet into his right temple. Death was instantaneous.

Hartz was implicated in the fighting affray at the Cumberland Clay works last Saturday and was arrested and held for a hearing. The decision of Justice Hughes in the case was withheld and was to have been given Saturday night, and the thought that he might be held for court and possibly imprisoned is believed to have preyed upon his mind.

In addition Hartz is said to have had a number of family troubles and has several times during the last week seemed to be acting so strangely that his sister and children were frightened. Friday night he was at the home for only a little time.

Saturday morning he came into the house shortly after eight o'clock.

"I want to know if you have anything against me," he asked of his niece and nephew who were in the place.

"I'm glad of it," he said, as they answered in the negative, and then left the house. It was the last time he was seen alive.

Just before 9 o'clock, as he was passing along the road leading towards the Clay works where Hartz had been formerly employed, George Dittenhafer, of Holly, heard a revolver shot. He hastened to investigate and found Hartz lying on the ground behind a large pine tree a short distance from the house. In his hand was clasped a revolver with one chamber empty while blood was trickling down his face from a wound in the left temple. Death had been instantaneous.

Hartz is survived by his sister, Mrs. John Harry, with whom he made his home and a brother in Harrisburg. He was unmarried.

Coroner Deardorff, of Cumberland County, visited the scene and viewed the remains. There will be no inquest further than the investigation which showed that Hartz had met death at his own hands.

EXPERT ADVICE

Visits to Various Sections of State Begin Wednesday.

Pennsylvania's ten farm counselors or field advisers will begin their tours of the state on Wednesday, and each one has from 30 to 40 requests for immediate visits and advice on agricultural problems, including crops, drainage and dairying.

As far as possible the counselors will follow a schedule made up for them according to the 400 requests sent to the office of the division by people throughout the state.

Warnings of the dangers of forest fires have been sent to almost every railroad and to many of the big manufacturing and lumber companies of Pennsylvania by the state forestry department in an effort to get co-operation in a campaign to reduce fire losses. The notices call attention to dangers from sparks and ask that the employees be instructed to prevent fires. Most of the railroads have replied tendering their co-operation and special efforts to instruct men in fighting fire will be made. In addition the state is providing material for instruction of children in fire dangers, especially in rural districts.

COUNTY PEOPLE TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. William Cover, Recent Resident of Gettysburg, Dies Near Emmitsburg. New Oxford Woman Dies in York Hospital.

MRS. WILLIAM H. COVER
Mrs. Catharine Freas Cover, wife of William H. Cover, died at their home near Emmitsburg about noon on Saturday from peritonitis aged about 40 years.

The Cover family lived in Gettysburg for some months, leaving here about a year ago when Mr. Cover purchased the Liberty Mills, a short distance from Emmitsburg on the Waynesboro pike. Previous to their residence in Gettysburg he was the proprietor of the Keystone Mills, in Highland township, owned by J. I. Hereter.

Mrs. Cover leaves her husband, one son, Clyde Cover, and a daughter, Nellie Cover, at home.

The funeral was held this morning, meeting at the house at 11:30. Services in the Lutheran church at Thurmont, Maryland, and interment at the same place.

GEORGE A. LONG

George A. Long, one of Hanover's best known citizens and manufacturers, died at 11:45 p. m. Friday after a brief illness from grippe. He was 56 years old.

Mr. Long had a successful business career, and at the time of his death was at the head of one of Hanover's largest manufacturing plants—the Long Furniture company, makers of fine extension tables.

He also formed the George A. Long Cabinet Company, for the manufacture of Victrola cabinets, several years ago. And the firm now make cabinets under contract for the Edison Talking Machines and Columbia Grafonolas. The cabinet-making department is located in the table works.

Mr. Long was one of the founders of the Hanover Agricultural Society, and of the Hanover Improvement Company. He was also one of the organizers and a member of board of directors of the new Hanover Trust Company, only recently opened for business.

Funeral from his late home in Hanover Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

MISS NELLIE J. SHORB

Miss Nellie J. Shorb, of New Oxford, died early Saturday morning at the York hospital, aged 63 years. She had been confined to the medical ward of the institution for the past nine days suffering from a complication of diseases.

The funeral was held in New Oxford at one o'clock this afternoon.

TO SEND PRODUCE DIRECT TO CITY

Adams County Farmers May Get Customers in Baltimore and Ship Butter and Eggs Direct to their Homes. New Ruling.

Adams County farmers, who make a specialty of fine produce, may now sell their goods direct to private purchasers in Baltimore by a recent arrangement of the post office department. The farmers of this county who would like to mail their produce direct to a family in Baltimore, receiving city prices, may do so by informing the postmaster in that city that they are ready to supply such products of the farm.

The plan then is for the Baltimore postmaster to give these farmers' names to some resident of the Monumental City, who is desirous of getting the best country goods while it is fresh, and this person will in turn send his order to the Adams County farmer. In this way the middleman's profit will be saved. A number of other cities will be given this same service but Baltimore is the one most suitable and convenient for Adams County farmers.

Ten cities were selected to begin the work of establishing direct connections between producer and consumer, Postmaster General Burleson having already issued an order permitting the use of crates and boxes for butter, eggs, poultry, vegetables and fruit shipped by parcel post.

Orders went to the postmasters at Boston, Atlanta, St. Louis, San Francisco, Baltimore, Detroit, La-Crosse, Wis.; Lynn, Mass.; Rock Island, Ill., and Washington, directing them "to receive the names of persons who are willing to supply farm products in retail quantities by parcel post." Printed lists of these names, showing kind and quantity of commodity available, will be distributed among town and city patrons.

"By the use of the lists," said First Assistant Postmaster General Roper, "the city consumer will be able to get in touch with a farmer who will fill his weekly orders for butter and eggs and other farm produce. The consumer will receive the produce fresh from the country and the personal relationship established will no doubt tend to improve the quality. The farmer will be relieved of carrying his produce to market as the rural carrier will make daily collections at the farmer's own door of these retail shipments to city consumers."

The success of the plan as it affects local farmers will be watched with interest.

BAD WEATHER

Weather Bureau Forecasts Unsettled Weather for the Week.

Unsettled weather, with frequent rains over nearly all parts of the country, is predicted by the Weather Bureau for the coming week.

"Temperatures during the next several days," said the bulletin, "will average above the normal over the Eastern and Southern States and the normal along the Northern border and in the Rocky Mountain region and on the Pacific Slope."

"A disturbance that is approaching the North Pacific Coast will move eastward over the Northern States and cross the Great Central Valleys Tuesday or Wednesday and the Eastern States Thursday or Friday; this disturbance will be attended by rains and be followed by a change to considerably colder weather in Northern and Central States east of the Rocky Mountains."

NO IMPROVEMENTS AT PEN MAR PARK

Rumors Afloat that Western Maryland will Do Nothing Toward Making Mountain Resort Popular this Summer. Another Report.

Men with capital invested in amusement and business enterprises at Pen Mar park are greatly agitated over the report that the Western Maryland railroad has taken no move toward opening the park this summer.

One man, who is heavily interested in a park establishment, stated that he had been advised that the railroad company had not as yet entered into a contract with the Peerless Pen Mar orchestra, which has furnished music for years for the dancers. Heretofore, he pointed out, arrangements for the orchestra have always been made long before this. It is understood that so far no effort has been made to have Mr. Bohl bring his musicians to the summer resort this year.

Another thing that is worrying park concessioners is the fact that the Western Maryland is taking no steps to resume the Pen Mar express this summer. The failure to re-establish this popular train service between Baltimore and the park will be a heavy blow. Music could be procured from some other source but the transportation facilities from the south rest solely with the Western Maryland.

Meanwhile men with established places of business at the park are not pushing forward any improvements until the various disquieting reports are set at rest by some definite statement from the Western Maryland Railroad Company.

Only last week it was reported that the Western Maryland would spend $8000 on improvements at Pen Mar this summer, but that rumor, also, lacked verification.

NEW SENSATION

Boy Said to Have Destroyed Records Showing Misuse of Funds.

The criminal prosecution of Moses Friedman, the suspended superintendent of Carlisle Indian School, as well as his discharge from office, may result from evidence obtained by Commissioner of Indian Affairs Cato Selis within the week.

Commissioner Selis has in his possession an affidavit from Sicieni Nori, secretary to Superintendent Friedman, that he destroyed papers tending to show that funds belonging to the school had been misappropriated by Friedman. The Indian boy alleges that he burned the evidence at the direction of the suspended superintendent. Nori's affidavit was obtained by Chief Inspector of the Indian Bureau Little, after the former had indicated to a joint Congressional Commission on Indian Affairs the character of the papers missing from the files at Carlisle.

Close upon the submission of Nori's affidavit to the Indian Bureau came the arrest of the Indian at Carlisle on the charge of having destroyed property owned by the Government. The suspicion has arisen in the minds of officials that the arrest was instigated by Friedman or his friends to get at the information which had been divulged to the Government.

COMING SHOW

Seven Hours in New York Next Gettysburg Attraction.

That the saying "nothing succeeds like success" is a true one in many instances is exemplified in the case of the new musical play "Seven Hours in New York" which is to be produced here soon. This company has been a success right from the very first performance. Whether it is the title or not, no one knows. The fact remains, however, that it is drawing capacity houses everywhere, and will probably do the same here. It is a large company completely equipped with scenery, wardrobe and electrical effects. DENY CLAIM OF PRIVILEGED CLASS

Gifford Pinchot Stirs Dinners in Philadelphia.

REPLY BY JAMES M. BECK

Declaration That There Are Two Separate Classes in Country Brings Vigorous Denial.

Philadelphia, March 30. — Tormoli broke loose at a meeting of the Privileged Five O'Clock club in the Bellevue-Stratford, when Gifford Pinchot, Progressive candidate for United States senator, declared that the only way the workers in this country could obtain justice was to combine against big business.

Members shouted angrily: "No, no; you are wrong," when Mr. Pinchot asserted: "The only possible way the little men can meet on equal terms with men like you is to line them up on one side and you on the other."

Among those who made objection to Mr. Pinchot's remarks were Colonel John P. Wood, president of the National Wool Manufacturers' association; Frederick T. Chandler, ex-president of the Philadelphia stock exchange, and James M. Beck, a noted corporation lawyer of New York. The audience that heard Mr. Pinchot included judges, members of congress and leaders in the city's political, financial and business circles.

Mr. Pinchot said: "Coming here from the Lighthouse (a workmen's center) I cannot help noticing the contrast between you men gathered here in luxury and comfort and the men I have just left. This contrast has impressed upon me the small chance the men in the Lighthouse have compared with such as you."

"As in a flash of lightning I see the tremendous inequality. It makes me think of the fight that the small man is putting up for decent food, decent clothing and all those things that the big man can have. There is a good deal the matter with this country, and we can find the basis of it in just such gatherings as this. The only possible way these other men can meet with men like you on equal terms is to line them up on one side and you on another."

In reply Attorney Beck recalled the centennial of the adoption of the constitution held in Philadelphia twenty six years ago.

"Through all that eventful week of the centennial," he said, "there was not one doubt expressed as to the practical infallibility of the constitution. In the twenty-five years since that time, the fundamental principles of our government have been attacked and derided—the sacredness and non-partisanship of the judiciary, the theory of representative government, the doctrines of self-restraint—each of them has been ruthlessly challenged."

"Now we hear an assertion from a high-minded man, an assertion in which he believes, but which I am convinced is untrue, that there are two distinct and separate classes in our country."

"Class passions have been appealed to and class antagonisms have been engendered in the organized attack now being made on the doctrine of our government. We see not only class antagonisms, but a class of middle-men interference with the mechanism of our government, which if continued cannot have only the most serious results. In less than thirty years the great railroads of this country have been brought to the verge of bankruptcy. Only recently the Pennsylvania railroad was obliged to lay off thousands of hands because of government interference. In this policy I cannot see anything ahead but diminished revenues, receiverships and dissolution and national bankruptcy. I believe that the solution of this problem will come with the belief among an increasing number of men that the government is best which governs the least."

Model Moonshine Still.

Charleston, W. Va., March 30. — Revenue officers raided a moonshine still in Mercer county, capturing a quantity of corn whisky and 130 gallons of beer. The plant, of inventive three gallons' capacity and complete in every particular, is said to have been in operation for several years, but was so carefully concealed that federal officers were unable to locate it. Charles Hills was arrested.

Six-Foot Bald Eagle Shot.

Lewistown, Pa., March 30. — A bald eagle measuring six feet from tip to tip and weighing five pounds, was shot in a field near Lewistown. The local sportsmen believe the king bird of the air, starved almost to death by the unusual severity of the past winter, left its lair in one of the nearby mountains and flew into the field to find food.

Kill Miner Who Shot Marshal.

Trinidad, Colo., March 30. — James Johnson, a negro miner, was killed in a rifle fight with state troops in the hills fifteen miles northwest of here. Johnson had shot and seriously wounded Clinton Robinson, marshal of Hastings, when the officer attempted to arrest him.

ASK CLEMENCY FOR GUNMEN

Petition Seeks to Stay Death Sentence Until After Becker's Trial.

New York, March 30. — The petition for executive clemency in the case of the four gunmen now under sentence to die during Easter week for the murder of Herman Rosenthal was handed to Governor Glynn today.

Ten of the jurymen who heard the evidence and returned the verdict of guilty have signed a petition asking that the death sentence be stayed until after the second trial of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker.

Their signatures to the petition were obtained by Mary Cirofici, sister of Dago Frank. One of the jurors refused to see her, and another is out of the state and could not be located.

PARDONED SO HE COULD DIE

Governor Halts 115-Year Sentence to Permit an Execution.

Little Rock, Ark., March 30. — A few minutes after receiving a pardon from Governor Hays, which released him from a 115-year sentence, Fred Pelton, a negro, was electrocuted at the state penitentiary here for killing Melvina Hatton, a negro, whom he murdered to get 50 cents.

There was a question as to the legality of electrocuting Pelton until after he had served his 115-year sentence, and for this reason the pardon was granted.

BANDIT BINDS HER TO GAS GRATE

Woman is Rescued by Husband Just in Time.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 30. — Mrs. Florence Singleton, of 217 Auburn avenue, had a terrifying experience with a brutal burglar, who entered her home and overpowered her.

The burglar, after knocking her down, bound, gagged and tied her to a big grate, from which gas was escaping. But for the timely succor of the woman's husband, who heard her groans, she would have been asphyxiated.

The intruder overpowered Mrs. Singleton when she went downstairs to investigate a noise which she had heard. With a razor held to her throat the woman was ordered to show where she kept her money.

When she declared she had nothing of value, she was thrown to the floor and her hands and feet were tightly bound with a clothesline. Taking a candle, the burglar wrapped a handkerchief about it and thrust it into Mrs. Singleton's mouth, effectually preventing her from making any outcry.

The burglar then carried Mrs. Singleton into the dining room and tied her to the big iron gas grate, after which he turned on a full flow of gas. After ransacking the lower rooms he departed.

A short time afterward Mrs. Singleton was awakened from his sleep by groans, and on investigating found his wife unconscious. She was later revived and will recover.

EVERY MAN THEY CAN SPARE

Retrenchment Plan of Pennsy to Be Comprehensive.

Altoona, Pa., March 30. — It was announced at the offices of General Superintendent George W. Creighton, of the eastern grand division, Pennsylvania railroad, that orders had been issued to division superintendents to lay off every man who could be spared, no matter what the number is.

Shop men, railroad men, track hands, clerks, etc., are affected alike. This means that further suspensions will be made. As soon as officials can tabulate the amount saved by the reduction in the forces, another suspension order will be issued.

W. H. Pierce, president of the Brotherhood of Federated Railway Employees, the new shop men's union, declares that 80 per cent of the Altoona membership has been laid off, and that 90 per cent of the discharged employees are married men.

Find Woman Shot; Murder Suspected.

New York, March 30. — Miss Emma Trinks, twenty-two years old, a milliner, was found dead in her bed in a boarding house at 843 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, with a bullet wound in her chest. The young woman had been shot while asleep. A revolver with one chamber exploded was found in an adjoining room and the police believe she was murdered.

Lone Bandit Holds Up Train.

Columbia, S. C., March 30. — A lone bandit looted the express safe of the Seaboard Air line train No. 2, Tampa to New York, here, taking one package said to be of small value and jumping from the train as it slowed up for a crossing. The robber made his escape. The mail and passenger coaches were not disturbed.

Breaks Into Friends Room to Kill Self.

West Chester, Pa., March 30. — Chester L. Burns, aged forty-seven years, broke into the room of his friend, Frank Naylor, at 113 East Market street, and committed suicide by severing the arteries of both legs and both wrists and cutting his throat.

Cheaper Chemicals Close Plants.

Kane, Pa., March 30. — Every chemical plant in McKean, Elk and Potter counties ceased operations, throwing about 3000 men out of work. Prices for chemical products have decreased.

TORREON IS IN VILLA'S HANDS

Federals Hurlled Back on Attempts to Escape.

MOST OF THE CITY TAKEN

Rebels Charge Through the Streets and Drive Everything Before Them. Losses Are Heavy.

Gomez Palacio, Mex., March 30. — General Villa, in a final assault upon Torreon, captured all of the Huerta stronghold except the small portion occupied by the Federal garrison. The loss on both sides was 4000 men.

The garrison is now seeking to cut its way through the rebel lines surrounding it in an effort to escape to Saltillo.

Facing artillery and musket fire from all sides, the Federals face annihilation, as there is no chance of its escaping. Villa is determined to capture the entire garrison.

The Federals made a desperate attempt to retreat from Torreon toward Saltillo. Villa had anticipated the move, however, and had given positive instructions to his generals, Benavides and Herrera, who occupy and have fortified a huge smelter works on the road to Saltillo, not to permit the retreat at any cost.

Shortly after midnight the tired legions of Velasco tried to rush past these defenses. With a terrible roar of artillery, machine guns and grenades, all at close range, the rebel artillery greeted the dash.

The report that General Velasco, the defending general of Torreon, and three of his aides, committed suicide cannot be verified, as all communication with the garrison has been cut off. The streets of Torreon are littered with dead, the defenders not having had time to bury them, nor a place for that matter, as the town cemetery was in the hands of Villa's troops for several days, and the tombstones were used as shields for sharpshooters.

Once Villa has secured Torreon, he plans to throw a force of cavalry to the eastward to join General Gonzales at Saltillo and seize that point. With this advantage gained he will have fair railroad facilities to transport reinforcements to Tampico immediately.

The Federals will probably make their next stand at San Luis Potosi, a large railroad center, which lies in the path of a southern invasion upon Mexico City. When the rebel army gets so far advanced southward, however, Villa thinks sympathizers with the rebel cause in Mexico City will be encouraged to the point of uprising within the capital.

Carranza Reaches Juarez.

El Paso, Tex., March 30. — Venustiano Carranza, "supreme chief of the Constitutionalists," after promises for months that he was coming to Juarez to establish his provisional capital, completed his 500-mile horseback ride and arrived last night. The aged leader of the revolution bowed a smiling but weary acknowledgment to the thousands of Mexicans and Americans who had been waiting to do him honor.

WIFE'S DREAM COMES TRUE

She Dreams Husband Breaks His Leg and He Does.

Allentown, Pa., March 30. — Spurgeon A. Weston, an Allentown newspaper man, was often twitted by his friends because he said there were many remarkable instances of mental telepathy between him and his wife.

A few evenings ago Mrs. Weston, awaiting her husband's return home, awoke with a start from a dream that his leg had been broken. What awoke her particularly was a sharp crack of the bone.

Within ten minutes a taxi stopped at the door and her husband alighted lame. A doctor found a fractured ankle, suffered when he missed a moving trolley car, and the bone cracked just as his wife had dreamed.

Assassin Shot Vainly at Zelaya.

Madrid, March 30. — A dispatch received here from Barcelona says an attempt was made to assassinate Jose Santos Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua, at Casa Torres, where Zelaya resides. A man, who said that his name was Rosas and who declared he was a Nicaraguan, entered the residence of Zelaya, drew a revolver and fired. Zelaya was not hit. Rosas was arrested.

Jury Drinks Nine Quarts.

Harrisburg, Ark., March 30. — One of the reasons given by the supreme court in reversing the conviction of Charles Myers, sentenced to electrocution for murder, was that the trial jury drank nine quarts of whisky while deliberating on a verdict. The court also says there is additional evidence justifying a new trial.

$365,000 Awaits Missing Man.

Kane, Pa., March 30. — A fortune of $365,000 awaits Keith Dalrymple, of Port Allegeny, who disappeared from home seven years ago. Relatives have started a countrywide search for the young man. Nothing has been heard of him since he disappeared. The fortune was left him by his father, an oil operator, who died recently.

BOY HELD FOR TEACHER'S MURDER

Made Damaging Admissions, Authorities Say.

Little Falls, N. Y., March 30. — Jean Glanini, who had been held as a suspect for the murder of Lydia Beecher, the young Poland, N. Y., school teacher, whose body was found in a clump of woods near that town, was arrested on a warrant charging him with the crime.

Coroner Huyek said that in his opinion the evidence already adduced justified the issuance of the warrant. Alleged admissions made by Glanini, who is sixteen years old, and a former pupil of Miss Beecher, are held by the authorities as tantamount to a confession.

In support of the youth's reputed statements, an affidavit was made by Brainard Will, a companion of Glanini, and a year his senior, to the effect that the accused boy several days ago asked Will to assist in murdering Miss Beecher and robbing the safe in the second largest business house in the Poland village. Will said he did not think Glanini was in earnest.

The weapons which are alleged to have been used to commit the crime are in the possession of the authorities. There is a wrench belonging to a cartman, to whose barn Glanini had access, and a knife similar to those used by hunters. The wrench was recovered near the scene of the tragedy and the knife was taken from a pantry at the Glanini home. The coat which the boy wore was stained with red spots.

MOVIES PLANT DESTROYED

Two Firemen Hurt in $100,000 Blaze, and 400 Actors Lose Jobs.

New York, March 30. — The studio of the Thomas A. Edison moving picture plant, at Decatur avenue and Oliver Place, the Bronx, was destroyed by fire. Two firemen were seriously injured.

Thousands of dollars' worth of cameras, scenery, costumes and properties were burned, as well as all the films so far used in making a picture of a spectacle to be called "The Battle of Mobile Bay." Other films, including original film of Mayor Gaynor and Andrew Carnegie, stored in fireproof vaults, were saved.

Four hundred actors were thrown out of work by the fire. The loss was estimated at about $100,000.

Mistakes Poison For Medicine.

York, Pa., March 30. — Moses Gollob, of this city, drank a Paris green solution in mistake for headache medicine and he is now in the York hospital in a critical condition. He went to the family medicine chest in the dark and took hold of the wrong bottle.

Kept Chickens In Bedroom.

Bridgewater, Conn., March 30. — Hyman Slavan was ordered to stop keeping chickens in his bedroom and explained that, having no clock, he used the rooster to wake up his wife in the morning.

Imagination to Be Controlled.

Imagination is a great faculty if properly controlled. Uncontrolled, let loose to run its course untrammelled, breeding its kindred passions of prejudice, fear, hate, malice, it becomes a menace, haunting us with its fantasies and fallacies, unfitting us for high purpose. Yet it dwells latent or potent in every human breast, master or servant, according to the strength or weakness of the will.

Costly New York Habit.

The costliest of New York habits is that of keeping a supply of subway or L. tickets in your pocket. If you have no ticket you have an even chance of not being stuck for the fare; if you have tickets, you say, as the other man makes for the window: "Come on, I've got tickets." It's a bum game; you simply can't win.—New York Tribune.

Crying Baby of Some Use.

A baby "crying in the night and with no language but a cry" found that language in a New Jersey town quite sufficient for the immediate family, as it was information to the effect that the house was on fire, thereby at the early age of one year saving twenty lives. This ought somewhat to justify that generally acknowledged nuisance, the crying baby.

Appetites.

Sir John Lade and the duke of Queensberry ("Old Q.") once laid a wager for £1,000 on who could produce a man to eat the most at one sitting. The duke could not attend the contest, but his representative wrote: "I have no time to state particulars, but merely to acquaint your grace that your man beat his antagonist by a pig and an apple pie." What must they have eaten!—London Chronicle.

In a very definite way the problem of the rural school would seem to be very closely connected with that of good country roads.

Human beings don't relish spoiled or moldy food. Neither do domestic animals. If the latter are compelled to eat such food it does them more harm than good, so there is nothing gained.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., has recently passed an ordinance forbidding the working of horses more than twelve hours out of twenty-four. The same ordinance prohibits the working of crippled horses.

Feeding experiments seem to show that from the standpoint of nutritive value pumpkins are worth about two-thirds as much as silage. Their feeding value being worth about $2 per ton as a ration for cattle, sheep or hogs.

The guinea fowl is said to have as toothsome flesh as any fowl on the list. This may be true, but the average farmer would want to have a guarantee that it was something pretty fine to put up with the everlasting racket of the fowls as they ranged about the place.

In Nicollet county, Minn., is a rural school that is conducting night classes in agriculture. The school was recently visited by the farmers' club organizer of the State Agricultural college.
Mr. Bush, who reports that the schoolhouse was nearly filled by the members of the class. The classes are held at night so that the farmers need not be kept from their work.

Pretty soon now it will be time to start the tomato seed. The writer saved the seed from the best specimens of several varieties of tomatoes last summer and fall and will be interested in noting whether the average size and quality of the fruit of the coming season will be better than that which the patch produced last year.

An apple tree belonging to a ranchman living in Los Angeles county, Cal., has aroused considerable interest
owing to the fact that successive crops which it has borne have been of different type and color. The apples of the first crop were light in color and of medium size, while the following crop was dark red in color and in no way resembled the preceding one.

The state experiment station of South Dakota has 2,000 pounds of hardy alfalfa seed which is to be distributed among the farmers of the state free of cost. Twenty-five pounds will be allowed each county, while but an ounce of seed will be allowed each farmer. The seed was obtained at a cost of $4 a pound from the wind swept plains of Siberia with the idea in mind that it would be especially adapted to the conditions found in the state.

At the national corn and grain show held recently at Dallas, Tex., the sweepstakes prize from the northern zone was awarded to G. D. Van Sickle of Warren, Minn., who is one of the field crop breeders of the state experiment farm. The judges in charge of the show decided that the samples of wheat shown were the finest ever exhibited in the history of the association. At the same show J. P. Nash of Clyde Park, Mont., was awarded first honors in the world's championship class on a spring wheat sample.

A modern farm home which is being completed in the neighborhood in which the writer lives is to be lighted by an electric plant installed on the place. A two and a half horsepower gasoline engine furnishes the motor power for the operation of the dynamo.
As a reserve feature batteries are employed which are charged while the engine is doing other work. Lights are also placed in the barn and other buildings at convenient points, while the wires running to the house will also furnish motor power for the operation of the sewing machine, the vacuum cleaner, heating the electric irons, etc.

With a view to preventing useless expense and waste in the printing and distribution of government bulletins the department will hereafter have printed at the bottom of the title page of each publication a brief paragraph stating accurately the nature of the material, the class of readers for whom it is intended and also the section of the country to which the information and accompanying suggestions are applicable. This plan ought to accomplish what is aimed at and will prove a convenient reference that should increase the demand for the publications of the department among those who will be chiefly and directly benefited thereby.

Manager of Oilcloth Plant at Salem,
N. J., Exposes Alleged Offer of $10,- 000 to Apply Torch.

Salem, N. J., March 30.—The $300,- 000 plant of the American Oil Cloth company in this city was scheduled for destruction by fire Saturday night, but there was a slight slip-up on the schedule, if the story told by John B.
Campbell, the manager, is true.

On the strength of his story the principal owners of the company, Albert J. and Louis J. Bimberg, of White Plains, N. Y., were brought from Trenton, where they had been arrested, and committed to the county jail by Magistrate Smith in default of $30,000 bail for court.

They are specifically charged with conspiring to have the manufactory burned, and Campbell says they made a contract, duly signed, with him to set the torch for $10,000.

When arrested, it is charged the brothers had in their pockets $5000 in bills, besides other money. It was presumed that the plan for burning the works was a desire to collect on the insurance, although it is declared that the premiums on several policies were long overdue, while others were not due until April 1.

The accused men deny all knowledge of the alleged plot and say they can very easily prove their innocence
when the opportunity is presented.
Under the law a justice of the peace
has no power to take bail in arson cases, and it is likely that the men will have to remain in jail until their case is disposed of.

The arrest of the Bimberg brothers came after several days of investigation. It is said, by Prosecutor of the Peace Sinnickson, aided by Burns detectives.

According to the story given out by the officials and the detectives, Campbell, the manager, was approached by the brothers with the proposal to set the plant afire and in such a manner that there could be no chance of saving it. His reward, it is charged, was to be $10,000 in cash.

Campbell is said to have spurned
the offer, but was again approached,
and this time listened to the tempters.
He had meantime given a tip to the prosecutor and was instructed to proceed with the negotiations; at least that is the charge made by the officers.

Prosecutor Sinnickson employed operatives of the Burns agency and the manager invited the Bimbergs to go on with the plans. Accordingly they are said to have drawn the $10,000 from the bank and displayed it to him, causing his eyes to bulge. Negotiations were kept up, it is charged, with the detectives in close touch with every move, and finally it was decided to set the torch Saturday night.

GARTERLESS BANK UNSAFE

Woodstown, N. J., March 30.—Mrs.
Thomas Kessler, of South Woodstown, will be sure to wear a garter the next time she uses her stocking for a bank.
She forgot the garter, and as a result Henry Davenport, who has been living in the Kessler home since the first of the year, is in the Salem county jail awaiting trial on the charge of taking four $20 bills which he picked up after they had slipped from their hiding place while Mrs. Kessler was cleaning house.

Davenport denied finding the money when Mrs. Kessler told him of her loss, but a constable called to search him found the $80 in a tobacco sack in his pocket.

wissa the tracks are covered to a depth of from three to six feet. With similar conditions prevailing near Plymouth, all traffic on the Bloomsburg division was annulled.

Uniontown, Pa., March 30.—Judge
Nathaniel Ewing, chairman of the public service commission, is dead.
Judge Ewing had been seriously ill for

Chester, Pa., March 30.—Messick's furnishing store on Market street, within a stone's throw of the city hall
police station, was entered early Sunday morning by burglars, who got away with about $2500 worth of goods and $25 taken from the cash registers.
The thieves made a complete change of underwear and shoes, leaving their own clothing in the store. They had pulled down all the window curtains and packed their booty in new suit cases taken from the store.

Both of the large display windows facing the main street were stripped of high priced neckties, shirts and shoes. The police believe the burglars loaded the goods into an automobile.

CURING SLICE IN GOLF.

An Expert Suggests Some Remedies
For a Troublesome Habit.

The slice is unfortunately a common fault at golf, destroying all hope of accuracy as well as distance in the drive. The remedy becomes obvious as soon as the cause of slicing is thoroughly understood. That it is due to a horizontal rotation of the ball in its flight is unquestionable, from the analogy of the curved ball in baseball.
The question is as to how this motion of rotation is imparted to the ball.

The remedy lies either in eliminating the twist of the wrists or in compensation for it by turning the club
in the hands while addressing the ball.
If you are a confirmed slicer turn the club in the hands so that the face slants sharply inward while the hands and arms are otherwise held in the usual position. Address the ball with the club in this position and then swing as usual. You will be agreeably surprised to see a straight ball or a pull.
A few trials will serve to determine the position of the club in addressing the ball which will give the desired straight shot.

All the curves, the slice, the pull and the rise are sharply emphasized in long shots. The sharp, hard blow of a rapid stroke sets up a much more rapid rotation of the ball just as in the billiard shots.—E. K. Stuart in Outing Magazine.

CUPBOARD
PREPARING MUSHROOMS.

DINNER MENU.
Cream of Potato Soup.
Baked Codfish.
Baked Potatoes.
Mushrooms With Cream.
Celery Salad.
Canned Fruit.
Cake. Coffee.

MUSHROOMS contain nourishment in a very digestible form. They are useful for combining with other foods, though they may be served alone in many tempting forms.

Baked In Shells.

Deviled Mushrooms.—Chop a quart of mushrooms, season with salt and pepper and lemon juice. Let stand for a few minutes, then add the yolks of two hard boiled eggs with two raw eggs. Stir in a pint of breadcrumbs and a tablespoonful of butter. Fill baking shells with the mixture, cover with buttered crumbs and set in oven.
Bake until brown, then serve.

Mushrooms With Cream.—Take a pint of prepared mushrooms, put in an agate or porcelain lined saucepan and let them heat and simmer in their own juice for about fifteen minutes.
Then add a tablespoonful of butter blended well with the same amount of four mixed thoroughly and add half a cupful of good sweet cream. Season to taste with salt and pepper and stir well. Let it boil. Then remove from the fire and stir in the beaten yolk of an egg, adding a tablespoonful or two of sherry. Serve at once.

A Combination Dish.

Mushrooms With Macaroni.—Take
one pint of water, one small onion, a sprig of celery, juice of half a lemon, teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter as much pepper and place in a saucepan.
When it boils add a quart of mushrooms and boil five minutes. Beat three eggs and stir in on taking from the fire. Have ready half a pound of boiled, blanched and drained macaroni. Put a layer in bottom of baking dish, then a layer of the mushroom mixture, then more macaroni and thus continue until the dish is full. Bake in a hot oven.

GLORIOUS HAIR

Girls and women of all ages want to be beautiful and attractive, but unsightly, thin and lifeless hair destroys half the beauty of a pretty face.

If your hair is losing its natural color, is falling out, dull, streaky, full of dandruff, too dry, or if the scalp itches and burns do not be alarmed, use Parisian Sage. Rub it well into the scalp. It will go right to the hair-roots, nourish them, and stimulate the hair to grow long and beautiful. It removes dandruff with one application, stops itching scalp, falling hair and makes the head feel fine.

Parisian Sage supplies the hair with what is needed to make it soft, fluffy, thick and gloriously radiant. It is sold in fifty cent bottles by People's Drug Store and at all drug counters. Look for the trade mark—"The Girl with the Auburn Hair." Accept no other.

FITTING UP THE

Two Cases of Circumstantial Evidence

By SARAH BAXTER

Judge Erskine of the criminal court was dispensing justice to the unfortunate when a request came over the telephone that he come home immediately. Realizing that something momentous had happened in his household, he adjourned the court and left for his residence. On reaching it he found his daughter, a girl of twenty, in charge of a policeman.

"I'm only obeying orders, judge," said the man, who recognized the judge.

"What does this mean?" "We don't know," sobbed the prisoner. "Some one reported to Hammerstein & Co. that they would find goods stolen from their dry goods store between the mattresses of my bed. A man came here representing himself as a water inspector and found those things."

"Don't cry, Lulu; it will be all right." Though the judge reassured his daughter, he could not reassure himself. He did not doubt that some one had laid a trap for him, but remembered that all are supposed to be equal before the law, and unless he could prove a conspiracy there was trouble ahead. He cast a glance at some faces in the hands of a man in plain clothes, then went with his daughter to court where, having furnished bail, he took her home. Then he repaired to the office of the head of the firm of Hammerstein & Co.

All Mr. Hammerstein knew about the matter was that they had received an anonymous note informing them where certain of their stolen goods were to be found, and they had sent a detective to the address. He had secured entrance as a water inspector and found the articles. The judge went away much depressed. The offer of Mr. Hammerstein to refrain from prosecuting the case did not relieve the former because the state would surely prosecute anyway, and, even if the case was not tried, the stain would remain. Judge Erskine believed that some criminal whom he had sentenced had taken this method of revenge.

A few days after his daughter's arrest he received the following note:

Judge Erskine:—A few weeks ago you sentenced Edna MacAlpine to state prison on a charge of shoplifting at Hammerstein's. While she was shopping there a thief who feared to be caught with the stolen goods on her, noticing a bag lying on the counter, put the goods in it. A few minutes later one of the store detectives arrested Edna MacAlpine, to whom the bag belonged. I know this, but I can't prove it. Can't you secure a pardon for Edna MacAlpine?

Here was the explanation. Some person in the interest of one whom the judge had sentenced, either guilty or not, had undertaken to force him to interfere with the governor for a pardon. There was no signature to the note, nothing by which to trace the writer. The fact that it did not refer to the case against his own daughter did not change the judge's opinion. He believed that if he secured a pardon for Edna MacAlpine he would receive an exoneration for his daughter. At any rate, it was the only way that suggested itself to free his daughter from the charge.

Judge Erskine went at once to the governor and represented the case to him. There was no evidence that he could consider to prove that Edna MacAlpine had been wrongfully convicted, but, being a practical man, he put the same interpretation as the judge on the connection between Miss Erskine's arrest and the letter her father had received. A pardon requires a good deal of delay, but this one, after much labor and the cutting of a good deal of red tape, was finally worked through and Edna MacAlpine was released.

The very evening the prisoner was returned to her home a woman called on Judge Erskine and said to him:

"I am the sister of Edna MacAlpine who is as innocent of the charge on which you sentenced her to prison as your daughter is of a like offense. I took the lace found in her possession and went to your house on various pretexts till I gained admission to her room, where, when not observed, I placed them between the mattresses of her bed. I then informed Hammerstein & Co. of their being there. My last act in obtaining justice for my sister was to write you the note you received asking for her pardon. I dared not refer in the note to your daughter's case or sign my name lest you accuse me of conspiracy, and you might have proved me guilty. In any event this course would have destroyed my chances for obtaining the pardon. Now that my sister is free you are welcome to prosecute me for conspiracy or any other crime."

The judge listened to this confession with intense anxiety. "You have convinced me of your sister's innocence of the crime for which I sentenced her, for were she guilty she would not have inspired the devotion of so splendid a woman."

"The judge went to a desk, wrote out a bond of indemnity and the confession she had made. He asked her to sign the latter, and when she had done so he handed her the former, to which he had attached his own signature. Then he called his daughter into the room.

"Why, you're the book agent," said Miss Erskine.

"I am, and I called as other characters, though only as the book agent did I show my real face."

Judge Erskine is more cautious about convicting accused persons on circumstantial evidence.

You can ban' on the NORTH EAST ELECTRIC Starting and Lighting System for Ford Cars

It is worth having because you can start the engine from the drivers seat and is very easy to install, almost while you wait. Your car need not be rebuilt or taken apart. The system can be slipped under the hood as shown in the cut and will not interfere with anything. LISTEN, I have used this system on my car for six weeks and know it does the work very satisfactory. The construction is very simple, powerful, and reliable. I like it so much that I contracted for the agency for Franklin and Adams Counties. Would be pleased to demonstrate it to any one. TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Formation of Ice.

The cause assigned for the fact that water freezes only for a comparatively small space at the surface of rivers or ponds is thus explained. Scientists authoritatively declare that water is at its heaviest when it reaches 40 degrees F.—that is, 8 degrees above freezing point. On a frosty night, as each top layer of water falls to 40 degrees it sinks to the bottom, therefore the whole pond has to drop to 40 degrees before any of it can freeze. At length it is all cooled to this point, and then ice begins to form. But ice is a very bad conductor of heat, therefore it shuts off the freezing air from the body of warmer water underneath. The thicker it gets the more perfectly does it act as a greatcoat and that is why even the Arctic ocean never freezes beyond a few feet in thickness.

An Untouched Subject.

In L'Esprit des Français is an instance of the sharp, biting wit for which Alexis Piron, the French epigrammatist, was famous.

A young author whose ability was by no means equal to his conceit was discoursing at length upon the merits of his work.

"I am tired of writing of that of which the others write," he said. "I want to create an original work, something that no one has ever written about or ever will write about."

Piron turned quickly to the speaker.

"Why not write your own eulogy?" he said.

Very Sweet Words.

"Are there any sweeter words in the English language," inquiringly Professor Swiggs, "than 'I love you'?"

"Well," grimly remarked the pessimistic beaver, "I understand that some authorities regard 'There's that money I owe you' as about the epitome of satisfactory sentences."—New York Globe.

Chinese Cabbage Seed.

Rape seed is termed by the Chinese "cabbage seed," while Chinese farmers style it "cabbage oil seed." As grown in Loongyan district, near Shanghai, it yields 200 cwt. equal to 1,000 pounds; an acre where the soil is favorable.

Social Scale.

"Pa," said Freddy, "what is a social scale?"

"Generally speaking," replied pa, "it's a place where they weigh money."

Why, Indeed?

"Mamma," said Little Willie, "why does the minister always say 'hastily' in the middle of his sermon?"—Woman's Home Companion.

Effect of Mirrors.

Mirrors lend a finished appearance to rooms. Hang them in dark corners or opposite windows and doors so that they will give interesting pictures. Fire screens, really antique ones, or else modern imitations, are also good for "finishers." So are some of the delightful little footstools that are now made. Pottery and brass are also good for finishing touches.

VESTEES OF BROCADED SILK ARE HELD IN PLACE BY A BROAD GIRDLE OR A SINGLE ORNAMENT.

It is predicted that white will again be very popular this summer, certainly nothing is more suited to the season, is cooler or daintier. There will be tallmades of white and coats and capes as well. Poplins, ratine, velvet, rep, moire and taffeta are all being shown in white for these purposes. On coats and capes that flare slightly at the bottom, and it is necessary that they do, it is modish to have a colored lining. Another pretty touch is the vest of silk gauze held in place by a single ornament of passementerie, lapels, revers and girdle of black satin; the vest of brocaded silk gauze crosses surplice fashion and extends below the girdle in two broad tabs. A two gored, modishly draped skirt is another smart touch.

This costume requires for size 36, 2 1/2 yards of 42 inch material for the blouse (8175) and 2 1/2 yards of the same width for the skirt (8255). A simple, one-piece frock developed in white cloth is shown in the other design; it has a collar and girdle of printed tussah and, by way of novelty, a large, square belt buckle. A full length raglan sleeve is a feature, and a straight, three-piece skirt completes the dress.

For size 36 this design needs 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

No. 8175—size 32 to 42.
No. 8255—size 22 to 32.
No. 8125—size 34 to 44.
Each pattern 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust. Address Pattern Department, care of this paper.

Bravery in Goodness.

To do an evil act is base. To do a good one without incurring danger is common enough. But it is the part of a good man to do good and noble deeds though he risk everything in doing them.—Plutarch.

Changed.

First Chorus Lady—"What do you think, dear? George is back from Alaska, stony-broke, and so altered that you would hardly know him!" Second Chorus Lady—"I'm sure I shan't, dear."—Judge.

Sleep While on the March.

Sleep can persist with the exercise of certain muscles. Couriers on long journeys nap on horseback. Among the impressive incidents of Sir John Moore's disastrous retreat to Coruna, in Spain, not the least striking is the recorded fact that many of his soldiers pursued their march while fast asleep. Burdach, however, affirms that this is not uncommon among soldiers.

Mineral Salt Not Necessary.

Herman Melville found the Marquesas Islanders perfectly healthy; there were no invalids among them, and there was no salt, but such as the girls gathered from the sea—as a luxury to be enjoyed by a chief—at a pinch. Apparently a healthy life can be lived upon only such salt as is supplied by the vegetables the earth affords.

Light's Influence on Flowers.

It is known that light influences very largely the aroma of flowers. A garden is more fragrant when it is shaded than when the sun is allowed to shine in full blaze upon it. This, at any rate, is the conclusion of a Frenchman who has recently made a vast number of experiments. That which affects the fragrance of flowers is not the oxygen of the atmosphere, as has been commonly supposed, but the light.
